

Tunde Adeyemi

About

- 32 years old
- Marketing Manager
- 9–6 office schedule
- 1hr commute each way

What Matters Most

"I don't need a 2-hour gym session, I need 15 minutes I'll actually do."

Core Needs

Wants more energy by mid-afternoon and to stay fit without a big time investment.

Motivation

Wants quick wins and low commitment — avoids anything that feels like a chore to schedule.

2-3

Attempted
workouts / week

Pain Points

Gym membership feels wasted since he rarely goes. Long routines that need planning kill his motivation.

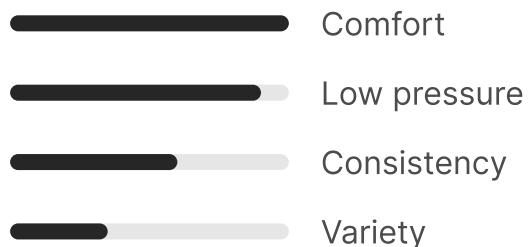

Amaka Chukwu

About

- 27 years old
- Software Engineer
- Remote-hybrid, desk-bound
- Skips lunch breaks often

What Matters Most

"I know I should move more, I just don't know where to start without it feeling like a chore."

Pain Points

Feels self-conscious in gym environments. Struggles to stay consistent — starts strong, then quits.

Core Needs

Wants to counter effects of sitting all day and ease into fitness without pressure.

Motivation

Wants something low-pressure and non-intimidating that fits quietly into her day.

1-2

Attempted
workouts / week